It is understood that the "Cleveland Maryland, are to vote against the regularly and fairly nominated democratic ticket in that State. THE TEMPLARS.

Boston has surrendered to an invading army, and is in the hands of 25,000 Knights Templar. These, with the ladies accompanying them, and the immense throng of visitors attracted to the city by the conclave and low railroad rates, have swelled the city's population to such an extent as to cause one to wonder if all the inhabitants of greater Boston have been forced inside the city's limits.

The entire city has donned a holiday dress, and on every hand flags, banners, gaily-colored streamers and flashing lights greet the eye. Immense numbers of incandescent lights have been arranged to represent every known Masonic emblem. The Masonic Temple decorations are, of course, the most elaborate, the principal feature being a huge outline cross of colored lights, covering almost the entire front of the building.

The different hotels where the large commanderies are making their head quarters have been jammed to the doors. Each commandery is keeping open house, and a constant stream of humanity in black and gold regalia has been pouring in and out since early yesterday morning.

DUELING IN MEXICO.-Although the Mexican laws forbid duelling, for the first time in the history of the country a conviction has been secured. The sensational trial of Colonel Francisco Romero, who killed Colonel Veras-tegui in a duel on August 9 of last year, was concluded Sunday morning, after an all night session. The trial lasted six days, and stirred society owing to the high standing of the principals and the seconds. Mexican juries consist of nine members, and a majority vote rules Romero was convicted on every count by a vote ranging from five to nine. The seconds were acquitted. The judge sentenced Romero to three years and four months' imprisonment with a fine of $1,800, or 100 days' additiqual imprisonment if preferre Romero must also pay $4,500 annually to the widow of Verastegui, in monthly instalments, for eighteen years, and the cost of the funeral of Veraste gui, amounting to $460. The cost of the trial he is also liable for. Romero was remanded to the military commandant, since he is an army officer, to be confined in the military prison in the City of Mexico. The result of the trial was entirely unexpected, and is the only topic of conversation in that city at present. It is believed that General Diaz will eventually relieve Romero from imprisonment, but not from the pecuniary penalty.

Verastegui was head of the stamp department. Romero is famous as a duellist, but his conduct since this duel has cost him many friends.

A WILL COME TO LIGHT .- A surprise

came to Mr. L. D. Wright, register of wills of Washington, yesterday morning in the shape of an anonymous letter, or rather of an envelope without a letter, inclosing an old paper much torn and partly burnt, which purported to be the will of the late Attorney General Joseph Holt. The will reads "I hereby give and devise all my property, both personal and real, to Lizzie Hynes, cousin of my first wife, and to Josephine Holt Throckmorton, who is my Godchild." The will is dated Washington, February 7, 1873, and is witnessed by "Ellen B. E. Sherman, U. S. Grant, W. T. Sherman." No will of Judge Holt has been proven, and on the 28th of August, 1894, administra-tion of his estate was granted to the National Safe Deposit Company, and within a few days, the year having expired, the distribution of the estate among his heirs would be begun in the ordinary course of administration. The inventory of the Holt property filed last October shows that the personal estate is worth $130,664, while the Holt real estate is valued at

The Knights Templar Parade.

Boston, Aug. 27.—The sun's rays were obscured this morning by a thick haze and a westerly breeze tempered the summer heat. Trains and street-cars poured tens of thousands of visitors from surrounding places into Boston's already overcrowded thorough-fares. The city has seldom, if ever, been so elaborately decorated. Practically every building along the line of march, besides many of the side streets, is clothed in color, with mottoes and Masonic emblems intertwined with the streamers and bunting. The color and movement and music made the city a brilliant picture of life, with its crowded sidewalks, its miles of windows, story above story filled with spectators, and its numerous observation stands early crowded with occupants. The slight cloud cast over the event by the action of St. John's Commandery, of Provi-dence, was cleared away by their final consent to take part in the procession, and the great pageant began its march in thirteen divisions at 10:50 a. m. Every commandery was headed by a band, and the instant that one stopped playing another would strike up and the music from the crest of the hill rang out in splendid style- The signal rang out in splendid style. The signal for the start was given by a detail of two guns from light battery A, and half an hour later a salute of 17 guns to Governor Greenhalge. Following almost immediately on this was a salute of 40 guns fired in honor of the knights, one gun being fired for each one of the commanderies in the parade. It was only some 50 minutes after the appointed time when Gen. Lawrence gave the command to march, and between walls of bunting and crowds of cheering people the procession began to wind on its way. The head of the procession reached Dock Square, the point of dismissal, at 1:10 p. m., just an hour and a half behind schedule time.

The column was reviewed at three different points by Grand Master Holmes, of Massachusetts, by Grand Master McCurdy and the Grand En-campment of Knights Templar of the United States, Governor Greenhalge, Grand Commander Lawrence, chief marshal of the parade, and by Mayor Curtis, of Boston.
